

Wanted: Principal Geologist - Ghana

- FIFO based anywhere (business-class travel)
- Salary range $USD200,000 (depending on relevant experience)
- Australian company

Our client is a rapidly expanding gold exploration company whose project is in the North West Ghana region. This company is steadily progressing through a feasibility study based around three key deposits; while aggressively exploring to build on existing Gold resources.

Reporting to the General Manager Geology, the Principal Geologist will be a key member of the site based project team, driving exploration of the company's extensive tenement portfolio, while supervising and developing the national geological team.

As part of a small site based expatriate team, the Principal Geologists key responsibilities will include:

- Joining an experienced expatriate team with the aim of building the Gold resource base
  - Primary geological input to the exploration team and generation of new exploration targets
  - Supervision and coordination of the aggressive multifaceted exploration push on site, including all facets of exploration including all initial reconnaissance mapping through to advanced resource definition and grade control drill-outs
  - Provide geological mentoring for the national Ghanaian exploration team

To qualify for this highly sought after role, you will have:

- A degree in geology with a minimum of 10 years experience
  - A strong focus on gold exploration including exposure to all forms of modern exploration techniques
  - A strong technical background and a "hands on" attitude towards fieldwork
  - Strong communication skills and a willingness to work as part of a highly professional team
  - Previous experience operating in remote "developing world" locations

The Principal Geologist will operate on a FIFO (business class travel) roster based on site at the field office during the 9 month operational field season, that runs from September to June. For this key position, the company is offering a competitive remuneration package based on experience, and this together with roster details will be discussed with candidates at interview stage.
