

Re: Project Geologist Vacancy

5th April 2011

Rathdowney Resources Ltd. is seeking to add a Project Geologist to its team in Ireland. The successful candidate will have at least three years experience in exploration programmes, preferably for base metals. The successful candidate should specifically have experience of running diamond drilling programmes and be familiar with all aspects of running a large exploration programme, including implementing logging and sampling procedures, liaising with drill contractors and collation and interpretation of data. Experience of MapInfo/Discover is desirable. This is a full-time position based at Rathdowney's field base in Mountmellick, Co Laois.

This is an excellent opportunity to work with a young, dynamic and growing company affiliated to HDI Mining, Vancouver.

An attractive and competitive remuneration package is on offer to the right candidate.

Please forward your CV to jobs@rathdowneyresources.com using the subject 'Project Geologist - Ireland', no later than 5pm, Wednesday 13th April 2011.