

Junior Exploration Geologist – Australia (salary $AUD70K - $AUD100K + superannuation) Perth – based, FIFO.

Our client is a dynamic iron-ore producer with a number of key projects strategically located in Western Australia.

Reporting directly to the Senior Geologist, this is an excellent opportunity for a Junior Exploration Geologist to grow and develop their skills within a progressive team.

The successful candidate will manage, design and implement exploration programs in conjunction with the company's Senior Exploration Geologists and Exploration Manager. Exploration programs will range from grassroots to resource definition.

General duties will involve surface mapping and sampling, drill supervision, supervision of contractors, adherence to QAQC & OHSE standards, generation of maps and sections; data interpretation and report writing.

Essential requirements are:

- Tertiary Qualification in Geology
- Full Drivers License
- Senior First Aid
- Good leadership, project management, communication and interpersonal skills as well as being flexible and energetic
